What skills are required?

Foremost, Tūhoe - Te Uru Taumatua requires Tūhoe leaders.

A mānai of the Iwi is a person who you feel and know has the reputation to:

- Kia mau tonu tō tāua Tūhoetana, bring about the permanency of Tūhoetana.
- Mā tāua tāua e whakahaere, activate Te Mana Motuhake o Tūhoe.
- He tanata tū Ranatira, leads, defends and unifies Tūhoe kaupapa.
- He kanohi kitea - are seen doing the mahi.

This means you are matatau ki:

- Tō reo me nā tikana o Tūhoe
- Te hono whakapapa
- Governance nous and experience.
- Keeping your Tribal community informed; representing your whārua; and knowing when to act in the collective interests of the Iwi.

What about business development experience?

- Business experience is valued but not essential. This is because the main role of the Board is to provide 'super-structure' leadership and oversight to Tūhoe lands, people and futures and thereby always be concerned to express a legitimate Tūhoe view.
- Activity or development related expertise is regarded as technical advice that can be purchased in.
- Business development is now more likely to occur at a Tribal level where this kind of expertise is increasingly needed.

When must the new Board Members be elected?

- Tribal Authorities must advise their representatives to Tūhoe - Te Uru Taumatua by 7 January 2026
